

An unexpected complication was an underground void encountered while digging 14-foot-deep trench. Collapsing soil created a 15 by 15-foot sink hole. "We had to relocate 500 feet from that ...

For freshwater sub-bottom profiling, a ground penetrating radar system can also be used. Marine seismic refraction is used to map geologic strata and to obtain compressional wave velocities ...