

Can landlords remove medication unit for industrial storages

When a tenant stops paying rent and fails to respond to notices, the storage unit is considered "abandoned." But what actually happens next? This article explains what happens ...