

Where does Grenada get its energy from?

Grenada derives almost all of its energy from imported hydrocarbons. In 2020, non-renewables accounted for roughly 98% of installed capacity and electricity generation, with solar energy making up the difference.

Who is responsible for energy projects in Grenada?

The MOID (Ministry of Infrastructure Development, Public Utilities, Energy, Transport, and Implementation) is responsible for energy programs in Grenada. MOID handles the majority of permitting related to energy projects.

Does Grenada have a national oil company?

Grenada does not have a national oil company. The Global Petroleum Group and an undisclosed Chinese company were heading oil exploration projects in Grenada as of October 2018. As of early 2021, approximately 235 employees worked for Grenlec on electrical generation, transmission, and distribution.

Does Grenada have solar power?

Solar photovoltaics (PV) have high potential on Grenada because the country's global horizontal irradiation exceeds 5 kWh/square meters per day. A 2- to 4-MW PV installation is planned, but no utility-scale solar plants are currently in operation.

Does Grenada produce oil?

Grenada does not produce, consume, import, export, or have reserves of coal. Grenada has no proven reserves of crude oil or natural gas, and does not produce refined petroleum products. During 2016, Grenada consumed 2,000 barrels of refined petroleum products per day, all of which were imported through the St. George's port.

Does Grenada have a climate problem?

The government of Grenada has expressed concerns about climate change, but continues to rely on diesel and refined petroleum products, despite having ample sunshine and active volcanoes that could be utilized for renewable energy. The government aims for at least 30% of electricity to be generated from renewable sources by 2030.
