

Normally an electrical power circuit is able to deliver up to about 25kW spread through all the sockets on a circuit. If your PC was trying to draw more than a circuit could supply you would ...

All drivers are up-to-date. Is it possible that the power supply is not powerful enough for the new card?

UPDATE After replacing the 300W power supply with a 400W one, I also noticed that ...