

What is Johnson Matthey doing in China?

Johnson Matthey's Greater China president Mark Su tells CW's Kartik Kohli that the company is committed to growing in the Chinese market through hydrogen, fuel cells, decarbonization technologies, and the circular economy, including in partnership with Sinopec.

Why did Johnson Matthey invest in China's hydrogen economy?

The investment in China's hydrogen economy through the establishment of a cutting-edge CCM production facility strengthens Johnson Matthey's position in the global sustainable technology market.

Does Johnson Matthey have a catalyst technology business?

CW: Johnson Matthey's catalyst technologies (CT) business is a world leader in process technology for segments such as methanol, oxo-alcohols, formaldehyde, and hydrogen. How do you assess the role of the CT business in the sustainable chemicals and fuels areas in China?

Can Johnson Matthey build a national fuel cell vehicle demonstration city?

With the help of companies like Johnson Matthey, we are able to actively build a hydrogen technologies innovation hub and a national fuel cell vehicle demonstration city. This investment agreement plays to both parties' strengths and is a win-win cooperation." CCMs are key performance defining components in fuel cell electric vehicles (FCEV).

Will Johnson Matthey expand its platinum group metal refining capacity in China?

As we continue to grow and develop this in China, we can lean on this expertise. CW: Johnson Matthey is expanding its platinum group metal (PGM) services refining capacity in China, as part of its 10 initial milestones until the end of 2023-24.

What is Johnson Matthey doing to boost fuel-cell production?

It is being heavily invested in and we are already working with our customers to ramp up fuel-cell production. CW: Johnson Matthey's catalyst technologies (CT) business is a world leader in process technology for segments such as methanol, oxo-alcohols, formaldehyde, and hydrogen.

????(Johnson Matthey),????????????,????????????????????????????,???????????????? ?????????????????? ...

????(Johnson Matthey),????????????????,????????????????????????????,???????????????????? ?????????????????????????????????,????????????????????????????? ...

Johnson Matthey plc (JM; London, U.K.) is expanding its fuel cell operations into China with a &#163;7.5-million facility to manufacture critical components for customers in the region. The facility ...

Our team is available to you at every phase of the product development process, providing technical support and guidance on the suitability and manufacturability of the battery system design. Our modern and well-equipped testing ...

Web: <https://purelysolar.co.za>