

In either case you would need something serious to be running to get to that level. If you have bad wiring in the house, this can cause ripple in the house, but a good PSU is designed to deal ...