

The document explains IP enclosure ratings and standards. It defines what an IP rating is and what the two digits in the rating mean, with the first digit indicating protection against solids ...

IP55, IP65, and IP67 all offer excellent protection against dust and other solid particles. However, the level of protection differs between these ratings. IP55: Protects against dust and other ...