

a power efficiency of 3.8% and a gain of 1.6. Yoon et al.[19] designed a type of composite luminescent concentrator PV system that embeds large-scale interconnected arrays of microscale silicon solar cells in thin matrix layers doped with luminophores. The advantage is that the dimensions and designs of the microscale silicon solar cells ...

Solar Concentrator. In article number 2400273, Peter Jomo Walla and co-workers developed a highly efficient luminescent solar concentrator with photostable nanoparticles. Pools of nanodots harvest sunlight and funnel it to aligned nanorods, which emit light in distinct directions, greatly reducing reabsorption and escape cone losses.
